WORKED THE AGENT.

THE GRAND PROMOTER TOO MUCH FOR THE BOOK CANVASSER.

Major Crofoot Organizes the Dietary Sausage Trust on a Capital of $5,000,000 and Accepts a Small Installation of Cash on Account.

(Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.)
It was a canvasser for "The Life of Napoleon," price $3.50 in calf, and he had scarcely exhibited his sample copy when Major Crofoot arose and took him by the hand and exclaimed:

"Just the man I wanted to see of all others in the world! By George, but this is luck!"

"I shall be happy to book your order," smilingly replied the canvasser. "Will you take calf or morocco?"

"My dear man," continued the major, "my name is on a sign at the door, but it doesn't state my business. Let me say to you that I am a grand promoter of enterprises, an organizer, a consolidator, an originator of some of the most stupendous and gigantic schemes of the country. You have come to the right man in the right time."

"Six stupendous enterprises in the last six weeks—one per week—and every one of them bound to pay a quarterly dividend of 30 per cent—bound to do it. That's $120 per year, and I'd like to see the diamond mines doing better. Six stupendous enterprises originated, capitalized and floated, and now comes the seventh. Fortune must have directed your footsteps. I am going to take you in. Yes, sir, I'll give you a show compared to which the 'Life of Napoleon' can't be mentioned. Let me congratulate you, sir—let me shake hands with another newborn millionaire!"

"Yes, but how about the book, major?" was asked.

"You have heard of the dietary sausage of course," said the major as he walked to and fro: "Invented by accident by one of the greatest chefs in America and, as he had no idea of what a good thing he had struck, I bought his right, title and interest for Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It is the supreme remedy for eczema, better, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson Druggist. Guaranteed.

into popularity in a day; has all the juiciness of fresh pork, the nutritive qualities of beef, and the taste reminds you of venison; can be made of seven kinds of meat if you happen to have them on hand, or you can get along with only one. It's the way they are fried that makes 'em dietary and has set the gourmands crazy; sure to drive every other sausage out of the market in four weeks more—sure to do it; can be furnished as rations to every army and navy in the world; can be sold in every hotel, boarding house and family wherever humanity exists; good for breakfast, dinner or supper; can't run no camp meeting, picnic or Sunday school excursion without 'em. My dear fellow man, your fortune is made!"

"If you would select the style of binding"—began the man.

"But we've got to go a little slow for a few weeks," interrupted the major. "There is a disposition on the part of the world's aristocracy to class sausage way down on the list of meats; can't expect that lords and dukes and presidents will order a second plate of them until they realize that it won't affect their social positions; got to look out for social prestige, you know. Once get the whirlwind of popularity started, and the public won't stop to ask whether our dietaries are made of fish, flesh or coco matting. First thing is to warrant them to cure indigestion, torpid liver and all that. They are a spring and fall tonic. All singers, actresses and athletes use them; testimonials from professors, actors, clergymen and thousands of others, and all family doctors recommend them above everything else. And there you are, my boy, there you are, and let me shake hands with you again."

"But the book, major. The price in calf is"—
"And you are to be our purchasing agent and buy our raw material. Dietary sausages will be made in several different lengths and sizes, and we shall use beef, pork, mutton, fish and what not; everything to be bought alive and killed in our own slaughter houses and hashed up with our own knives. You attend to the buying and I attend to the frying. Millions of dollars will pass through your hands every year, but we shall trust to your honesty; salary $75,000 per year at least, and you come in on the ground floor for stock. I just lack $10 to meet the expenses of organization, and I'll borrow it of you for a day or two. We shall capitalize at $5,000,000, but probably increase to $15,000,000 inside of a year. And what is the name, please?"

"My name is Taylor," slowly replied the canvasser, "but I have no $10 to put into your scheme. I'm selling the 'Life of Napoleon.' It is printed from new, large type, illustrated by"—

Mr. Savage intends to devote his time exclusively to the business. All work will have his personal supervision.

He has employed Mr. Davis of San Francisco who comes highly recommended to the people of Reno.

With Mr. Savage's experience and the assistance that a first-class up-to-date workman from the city affords, they should, and will, undoubtedly, command a good share of the public patronage in the plumbing and heating line. 26/1w

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. THE HEART RESPONDS TO THE CAUSE.

There was enthusiasm of a character at Kansas City never known before in a convention when the leader was nominated by Democrats as the standard bearer, not of a party, but of the people. Bryan's mission in politics is the mission of all good men, which is ever for the masses of human kind. The work of the leader is fully understood to be for the best interests of his fellow men, and consequently for the upbuilding of conditions that will aid them to improve their lot in life, whatever it may be. Such effort has always the approval of the good and true among men, who are not less than ninety-nine hundredths of the race, and who are largely in the majority in all races of men.

The outflow of the souls of men and women who were present is a talisman to the future in the country at large. There will not be sore muscles or weak sinews in the contention for the election of Bryan. When the hearts of the people become full of a conviction of right and justice against a wrong, there is no half way place to consider upon conservative action, because it is not required in the work they have to dispose of. The honest, determined contention of the man in advocating the right as he understands it, has made its way to the minds of the people in a manner that has brought conviction in its train to those who have warm blood in their veins, and the music of justice in their composition.

There is no doubt in the minds of the people about the honest purpose of one of the most devoted men to their interests who has made his appearance as their advocate and defender in the closing century. He has been their champion in season and out of season for the last four years. There has been no hesitation, no doubting or other evidence of weakness in all he has done. It has been a continued aggression by him upon wrong and for the right. His movement against the enemies of the people and against the despoilers of his country has been consistent and strong, because it has been and is sustained by the fitness of things and in line with the natural and acquired rights of man.

There is neither wrong or oppression in the political creed of his followers, which admits of the most exalted patriotism in all they do for their country, and in all they say in defense of the great body of the people and of each other. While the bosoms of the honest and true are lifted with a swell of patriotic emotion, there will be no after tow to the swell that will take one iota away from the innocent or from the weak, from the poor or from the hungry, from the hard toiling millions of men who are engaged in honorable and honest pursuits in life, or from him whose uniform was worn in the past, or is worn in the present for the defense or the upholding of the honor of his country.

Equal and eternal justice to all men will be inscribed upon their banners. Love of country and its maintenance in all of its purity as given to the people and to the world by the fathers of the republic will be intertwined in bold relief among the stars in the azure blue of the flag of their country, which they will send as a harbinger of freedom to the oppressed who bear in their bosoms a kindred love for home and native land.

There was no machine made enthusiasm at Kansas City. The native feeling there was in the people present was remarkable to those who were there as disinterested observers of the proceedings of the convention. It was outbursting, as electric sparks unnoticeable flow on their mission to cause a general awakening of the better natures of those present to respond in tumultuous cheering to a general feeling that had taken possession of the good there was in the people in the convention hall. Enthusiasm did not go begging in the earlier history of the Republican party.

The change that has overtaken the party that made a pretention to cheer at Philadelphia is of a nature that represents its position at this time before the people and as connected with them and their rights. When its present position is compared with the standing it had before the people when Lincoln was first nominated for the presidency, its sustains the relation of a complete reversal in all there is connected with it. The absence of enthusiasm shows it has departed from the people and bowed down to other gods.

Vox populi, vox Dei is no more applicable to a Republican political body.

Spontaneous applause, expressing sentiment, is not present. There are no outbursts of genuine heart inspiring expression from the souls of men full of love for their kind and full of love for their country. The cause of it all is that love for the man has departed from it and love for the dollar has been substituted for the man. Its conventions and political gatherings partake of the air of counting rooms and back offices, where profit and loss are considered and the means necessary to increase the profits of the few at the expense of the many.

The streams of sweat it will require to produce a million in profits are among the calculations represented in a Republican political gathering to the exclusion of the men and their children who furnish from the pores of their bodies the sweat required to make a stream to produce a million in profits. It may be claimed that the picture of the toiler is over drawn but there is no misrepresentation as all profits come from the toil of man in some form and where there is unconscionable profits there is unconscionable toil with its consequent oppression.

THE TICKET.

William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska for president and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for vice president are the nominees of the Kansas City convention. The nomination of Colonel Bryan was assured before the convention convened, but nothing had been given out by the people about any preference they had respecting a candidate for vice president.

Mr. Stevenson is a strong man from a strong State where will be largely centered the positive work in the campaign. These men represent a truly Democratic relation to the people and to the institutions of the country, including its Democratic form of government in all of its departments. The statesmanship of each of the gentlemen who make the ticket is known to be of a most able and conservative character.

The rights of the people as outlined in the Declaration of Independence and confirmed by the constitution will be cared for after the manner of statesmen if they are elected to the high offices to which they have been nominated. The JOURNAL will support with any ability it may have and with loyal endeavor, a ticket which gives so many assurances that the best interests of the country and the rights of the individual citizen will be advanced by its election.

Venice Without Water.

Venice without water would hardly be Venice at all, but we are assured there is a possibility that the picturesque Venice of today may become a city of the past, and eventually Venice may be waterless.

According to Professor Marinelli, the regular increase in the delta of the river Po is such that in process of time the northern Adriatic will be dry, and Venice will no more be upon the sea. The annual surveys show that the mean annual increase of the delta during 70 years has been three-tenths of a square mile.

An encroachment upon the sea of three-tenths of a mile in a year means a large increase in a century. It appears that the total increase in six centuries has been about 108 square miles. The increase is continuing, and the gulf of Venice is doomed to disappear.

No immediate alarm need be felt, and it will not be necessary to hurry off to Venice to take a farewell look at the city in its present picturesqueness. Professor Marinelli calculates that between 100 and 120 centuries will elapse before the entire northern Adriatic will have become dry land.—Youth's Companion.

Crosses and Thieves.

Several years after the close of the civil war a reception was held in Lynchburg, Va., to commemorate some national event, says V. Halsey in Lip pincott's Magazine. Many men were there assembled who had fought in the war. Among them was a major of a Massachusetts regiment, who, meeting General Jubal Early of the Confederate army, cordially greeted him.

Pointing to his own decorations, the major said, "Ah, general, you see we have all the crosses now."

"Yes," replied the old general. "In olden times they hung thieves on crosses. Now they hang crosses on thieves."

The Missionary's Ruse.

Cannibal King—Bring on the big gridle and let's roast this fellow.

Captured Missionary—O king, but give me a dose of quinine before I die! You see, I am a victim of the habit. I consume three ounces of quinine every 24 hours.

Cannibal King—I pass this fellow up. I can still taste that quinine fiend we roasted two months ago. Ugh!—Ohio State Journal.

ROYAL

The absolutely pure BAKING POWDER

ROYAL—the most celebrated of all the baking powders in the world—celebrated for its great leavening strength and purity. It makes your cakes, biscuit, bread, etc., healthful; it assures you against alum and all forms of adulteration that go with the cheap brands.

Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.

THE REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY

Three Were Indicted Rebut for Some and and One Set Praise for Others. Free.

There was a bigger crowd than usual loafing on the Court House stoop yesterday afternoon, lawyers, officials and reporters. The lawyers looked anticipatory. The officers were nervous and ill at ease and the reporters discussed mining, politics and relay races.

All this concourse of people were waiting for the announcement that the grand jury had dug back into ancient history and had found the moss grown report we have been waiting so long to hear.

Finally we were admitted to the presence of these good men and true. All of them—even Sol Levy—were the air of judges who were about to pass sentence of death.

Its partial report was handed to the Judge who silently read it and passed it to the clerk who also glanced over the document. The jury passed out but were hastily recalled on account of the discovery that the good and true men had dated their partial report Tuesday of next week.

Three indictments were found. They were: Charles L. Leonard, burglary; R. J. Tibbets, assault with a pistol with intent to kill; Charles Udike, obtaining money on false pretenses.

Arraignment was set for 10 this morning.

Providence and grand juries move in a mysterious way their wondrous to perform. For some inexplicable, but doubtless just, reasons this grand jury in substance said to the jailor: "Mr. Hayes, turn Evans loose."

This E. V. Evans was arrested some months ago on a charge of uttering spurious checks. His victims were a couple of local saloon men.

At 7:30 the grand jury reconvened to prepare its final report.

That Cured Him.

A. Seldmore, while down in Trinity district superintending the E. M. & R. Co.'s mines, Thursday met with a thrilling experience. He stepped on a big rattler and in the effort to escape the fangs of the reptile he took a leap which landed him in the bottom of a twenty-foot prospect hole. When the rescuing party arrived they found "Skid" laboriously engrossing the temporary pledge on the back of an old assay blank.

Our Friend and Neighbor.

Verdi was as enthusiastic over the success of the Reno relay team as though she had, herself put it in the field.

When the boys came home the whole town, headed by Hastings' band, turned out and greeted the boys with music, cheers and fireworks.

Harrah for you, Verdi! Your neighborly act is appreciated.

Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the Silver Party County Central Committee will be held at the office of Dr. Gibson in Reno, Saturday evening, July 7th, at 7:30.

By order of the chairman,
G. E. HOLMES, Sec'y.
O. H. FERRY, Secretary.

The report of the Washoe county grand jury of 1900 contained many a sensation. Scarce a breath of complaint was uttered against a county official, save that frightful charge preferred against Janitor Richardson, who had overlooked some webs spun by a madame spider on the ceiling of the courthouses corridor.

There were no big deficits discovered in accounts and no one was found derelict in duty, except our good friend John, who allowed that pesky insectivora to get him under the ban.

First on the program in the report was that of the committee on county and township officers—O. T. Bender, George Alb and R. W. Parry.

In their report was embraced a bulky document containing the results of the researches of County Expert Bovier. His report may be thus loosely summarized:

Sheriff's Office—Books correctly kept and all fees collected and accounted for.

County Clerk—A number of omissions and errors in the four months last preceding the date when this official went under the fee system.

[Note by Foreman Gosse at end of report—The sum owing to county has been paid by clerk and receipted for.]

Recorder—Books neat, well kept and systematic.

Treasurer—Everything correct and carefully checked, and cash even to a dot.

Justice of the Peace—No records kept except docket. Cash book should be kept, as expert had to go to treasurer's books for financial data on this office.

G. R. Holcomb, R. H. Kinney and C. Lonker, committee on roads and bridges, found the county highways in fair condition, but recommended that the Verdi and Crystal Peak bridges be repaired.

Felix Vogliotti, J. F. Altken and F. Strassburg, who composed the committee on public buildings, reported that the county hospital was well conducted, but needed an annex and paint. The courthouse interior would also be a good place to apply the brush. Then that spider would have to be ejected. This committee emphasized the need for a government building in Reno.

Marriages That Failed.

Two prominent families in this city have been brought into prominence in the courts. Luigi Della Piazzi has sued Maria Della Piazzi for divorce on the grounds of infidelity.

Mrs. Addie Quinn has applied for a severance of the matrimonial ties that bound her J. J. Quinn. She alleges extreme cruelty.

Another Industry.

Robert Bigler of Carson is here in the interests of the Nevada Mineral Paint Company. He proposes to establish a paint mill and wholesale house in this city, so it is rumored.

Ice cream freezers and refrigerators are being closed out by Ed. Schmitt regardless of cost, on account of being overstocked.
